Dear est1967.com readers,

As many of you know, Forum 67 was hacked yesterday. If you didn't happen to see it, when visiting Forum 67 viewers received nothing but a vulgar message.

For a while now, I've been contemplating how much I really wanted to keep doing est1967.com. It's a very time consuming site that in the end provides me with nothing but complaints simply because I cannot make everyone happy. Most recently it's provided me with threats. Because my future isn't worth risking over an Internet feud, I've decided to make an end est1967.com.

Did I lose the battle? Maybe. But this will make me a happier person. I'll have more time for my education. I'll have more time to spend with Renee and my family. And, I'll have one less worry in my life.

I'd like to apologize to all the staff members of est1967.com who are finding out about this just like the readers are. Chirag has done so much work for this site and I could never thank him enough. Mark Smith (bluesny), Mason (unger), and J.A. (jaws) have all provided the site with excellent work. More recently Aaron Londe, Steve Holley, and Curt Price began helping out with the site, and while their time with the site was short, I am very thankful.

I know many of you think that MMD is behind this, but I am 99% sure that he is not, so don't blame him if you come across him in another Blues forum.

If you'd like to contact me for any reason, my email address is cdegroat@hotmail.com.

Thanks for all the support,
Chris DeGroat
